

HEALTH PRECAUTIONS AT SALISH LODGE & SPA

Salish Lodge & Spa is committed to protecting the well-being of our visitors, team members and business partners. During every flu season, our team members implement a set of protocols designed to prevent communicable sicknesses, and considering the recent novel coronavirus, we have increased these efforts significantly.

Health and wellness are always a top priority for us, and with the recent concerns we have increased our protocols substantially. Our team members are closely monitoring government regulations at every level to ensure our response is rapid, efficient and appropriate. In recent weeks, our team members have been and are currently:

- Increasing the cleaning of high-volume, high-touch areas, including paper towel dispensers, vanity tops, counters and door handles;
- Monitoring health departments at the city, state and federal levels to ensure we receive the latest updates and protocols;
- Distributing critical information among key team members and business partners to help prevent communicable sicknesses throughout the venue.

Please do not hesitate to reach out with any other questions.

Sincerely,

Alan Stephens
