SUMMER CONCERT SERIES

BEST OUTDOOR MUSIC

Celebrate the sunny season by dipping your toes into the city's many outdoor concert series. Break up the workday monotony with downtown Seattle's Out to Lunch series (downtownseattle.com/summer)—short, free, noontime concerts in public plazas—including The Paperboys at Harbor Steps (8/8); The Dusty 45s at Harbor Steps (8/15); The Maldives at Occidental Square (8/22); and Leroy Bell at Harbor Steps (8/27). Or plan an enchanted, artful evening at the Olympic Sculpture Park's Summer in the Park series (seattleartmuseum.org/summer), featuring Industrial Revelation (8/14) and the The Dusty 45s (8/21). KEXP brings the best indie bands to the Concerts at the Mural series at Seattle Center (Fridays in August, 5:30 p.m. seattlecenter.com/concertsatthemural), such as Tacocat and Kithkin (8/1), Katie Kate (8/8), and Mark Pickerel and Star Anna (8/22). On the Eastside, Marymoor Park (marymoorconcerts.com) hosts big names Ray LaMontagne (8/13) and Beck (8/20), while Salish Lodge's Music on the Green series (salishlodge.com/musiconthegreen.php) features Seattle indie-folk bands The Horde and the Harem (8/7) and Kris Orlowski (8/14). And for a truly schmancy night with wine galore, check out Chateau Ste. Michelle's summer concert lineup (ste-michelle.com), including Gipsy Kings (8/22) and Peter Frampton (8/24). August, baby, I love your way.
