Salish Lodge, Snoqualmie, WA

Perched at the top of 268-foot Snoqualmie Falls, Salish Lodge is less than 30 miles east of Seattle but feels a world away. The lodge's Attic restaurant ($$) has breathtaking views of the falls, usually dusted with snow in December. The rooms have jetted tubs for two and wood-burning fireplaces, and for something truly sweet, the lodge's apiary produces honey used in everything from herb scrubs in the spa to the beer served in the Attic. From $189;
