Salish Lodge & Spa announces plans for a $12 million renovation to reflect its Northwest heritage

Salish Lodge & Spa, a luxury resort in Snoqualmie will be update all 84 of its guestrooms during a major renovation, the property's largest since 1988. The lodge will remain open to guests during the extensive two-part remodel, which will be completed in late spring of 2018. The addition of new features and amenities — such as gas fireplaces, soaking tubs, and oversized showers — as well as the creation of a more contemporary and earthy Northwest ambiance are all a part of the project's plans.

"We are committed to maintaining and honoring the beloved history of Salish while incorporating a more current twist," said Alan Stephens, general manager of Salish Lodge & Spa in a press release. "Salish remains dedicated to providing first-in-class memorable experiences as it has done for more than 100 years, and we look forward to inviting loyal and new guests to visit us as we enter this exciting next chapter."

Offering regionally inspired spa treatments, cuisine, recreational activities, and scenic views of Snoqualmie Falls, Salish Lodge & Spa aims to create memorable experiences for locals and visitors alike. Through the renovation, Salish said it looks forward to further enhancing the guest experience it already prides itself in.
