

The Most Romantic Valentine's Day Restaurants in Every State

It comes as no surprise that February 14 just happens to be one of the busiest days of the year for restaurants. In fact, almost one quarter of the population will dine out on Cupid's favorite holiday according to the National Restaurant Association. Not sure where to go? We've identified a very special restaurant in each state that will ensure your evening is filled with delectable cuisine—and a taste of romance.

The Dining Room at Salish Lodge & Spa, Snoqualmie, is perched directly over 269-foot Snoqualmie Falls with a stunning view of the valley and the Snoqualmie River. Tucked on the south side of the dining room are a handful of cozy nooks, each with a feeling of privacy and romance. The restaurant is offering a four-course Valentine's Day special, with such options as seared scallop and caviar, roasted beet carpaccio, endive and eggplant, Applewood smoked Peking duck breast, or butter poached lobster tail, and a dessert trio for two.
