

Winter day trips in Washington

By LYNSI BURTON, SEATTLEPI.COM STAFF

Published 5:34 pm, Friday, January 29, 2016

Photo: Paul Joseph Brown, Seattle Post-Intelligencer

IMAGE 23 OF 24

Get pampered and splurge on a meal at Salish Lodge.

Anyone else suffering from some serious cabin fever about now? We know we should take a short stroll or something, but then we open our front door to a soggy downpour and head back inside to watch Netflix.

Just me?

Until the spring flowers crop up again, we have some suggestions for you to beat the cold, embrace the cold, or at least enjoy the great outdoors a bit without too much hassle. Just keep a raincoat and some galoshes handy should typical Northwest weather strike.

What are your favorite winter getaways? Tell us in the comments.